TEASER

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

BOUNDLESS COMPASSION: The divine grace and compassion of God are truly immeasurable. Sri Hariji described the Lord's various qualities in a discourse. Lord Nrusimha gently placed the child devotee Prahlada on his lap and with boundless compassion, asked him lovingly about his well-being. In response, Prahlada humbly said his devotion could never equal the Lord's infinite mercy.

Although decisions are typically made by majority rule, Lord Rama displayed His unparalleled compassion towards Vibhishana. While everyone except Hanuman opposed Vibhishana's acceptance, Rama graciously welcomed him because of his absolute surrender, even though Vibhishana came from the enemy camp.

Rama blessed Ahalya and restored her to her original form, granting her liberation as a reward for her steadfast devotion.

Lord Krishna saved Draupathi when she cried out as "Govinda" in her moment of most profound distress and humiliation. The Lord declared that He remained ever indebted to Draupathi for her unwavering faith and whole-hearted devotion.

The young devotee Dhruva, who performed intense penance, was granted an exalted and eternal place in 'Dhruva Mandala' — a special celestial realm created by God Himself. This divine honour was bestowed as a token of appreciation for the child's steadfast devotion and unwavering determination.

Another instance is Lord Vishnu rescuing the elephant Gajendra from the clutches of the crocodile when the helpless creature sincerely pleaded for divine help.

Scriptures teach that a person is destined to be reborn according to the final thought occupying the mind at the moment of death. Yet, for those who have surrendered completely at the feet of the Lord, He Himself ensures that their final thought is centred on Him. By His grace, such devotees attain His divine abode, Sri Vaikunta, transcending the cycle of birth and death.—In The Hindu

Surfer rides wave for over 8 hours!

Ebenesee: A surfer spent 8 hours, 5 minutes and 44 seconds on his board to break the Guinness World Record for the longest time spent surfing a wave.

Maximilian Neuböck attempted the record at RiverWave, a man-made wave that uses currents from nearly rivers to create a permanent surfing wave in Ebenesee, Austria.

Neuböck spent 8 hours, 5 minutes and 44 seconds surfing the wave without breaks and even used a spoon to eat a cup of soup while continuing to surf.

He broke the record previously set by Panama's Gary Saavedra, who spent 3 hours, 55 minutes and 2 seconds riding a wave in the Panama Canal.

Mishap causes man's body to swell up

Pisco: Alejandro "Willy" Ramos Martínez suffers from a condition known as decompression sickness, also called "chamber sickness," which occurs when a person experiences a sudden drop in ambient pressure. This is common among divers who perform deep dives and do not follow proper decompression protocols.

In 2013, Willy was diving to a depth of over 30 meters off the coast of Pisco, Peru, in search of seafood, when a passing boat ruptured his oxygen hose, forcing him to surface quickly. The sudden rise caused nitrogen bubbles to form in his chest and arms, resulting in a medical problem that left his torso and arms.

Doctors managed to eliminate about 30% of the enormous nitrogen bubbles in his body and were optimistic that, in time, he would recover, but eight years later, the Peruvian man is still looking for a cure.

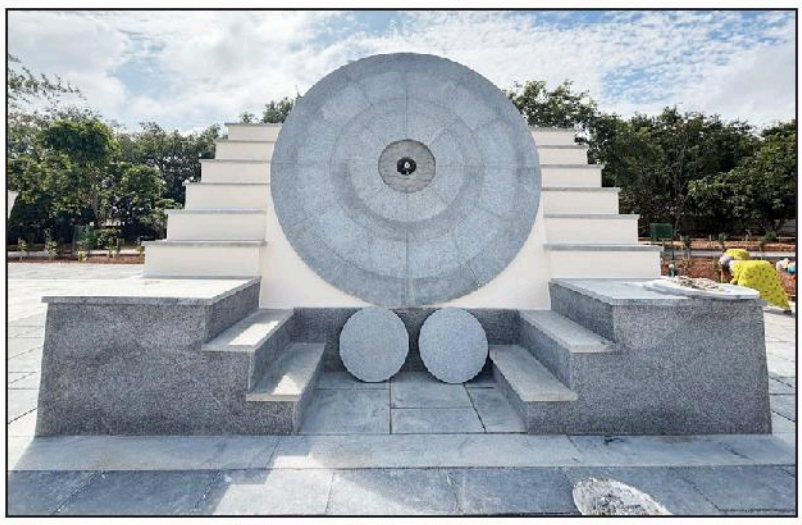
Jantar Mantar now in Mysuru

- Indian-style astronomical observatory to open at Bhartiyogadhama, Uttanahalli
- Modelled after Jaipur, Ujjain and New Delhi Jantar Mantar; Inauguration tomorrow



The construction of Madhya Pada at the Vedhashale astronomical observatory, Bhartiyogadhama, Uttanahalli, has been completed. The other two components, Purva Pada and Pashchima Pada, will be taken up for construction in due course.

Mysuru, Dec. 6 (RK&BCT)- Mysuru is preparing to record a landmark achievement in the fields of astronomy, heritage science and traditional knowledge.

South India's first-ever Indian-style astronomical observatory — Vedhashale — modelled on the historic Jantar Mantar observatories of Jaipur, Ujjain and New Delhi, will be inaugurated at Bhartiyogadhama, Uttanahalli, tomorrow (Dec. 7) between 10 am and 1.30 pm.

In ancient Indian scientific tradition, the term Vedha means "to observe through analysis," and a Vedhashale served as a specialised centre for the precise study of celestial bodies — including planets, stars, the Sun and the Moon.

Using meticulously crafted instruments, traditional astronomers calculated planetary positions, predicted eclipses and charted astronomical phenomena with remarkable accuracy.

The newly-established Vedhashale brings this legacy back to life, blending tradition with contemporary relevance to create a dedicated platform for astronomical learning and research.

Advocate, family booked for cheating woman lawyer

Mysuru, Dec. 6 (BCT)- An advocate from Mysuru and five of his family members and associates have been booked by Vijayanagar Police for allegedly deceiving a fellow woman lawyer by promising marriage, establishing physical relations and later backing out after finalising the wedding date.

The accused has been identified as advocate Naveen Ponnaiah, along with some of his family members and associates.

Vijayanagar Police Inspector S.D. Suresh Kumar confirmed to Star of Mysore that the woman lawyer's complaint, filed on Dec. 1, has been registered as an FIR under relevant Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) sections. Investigation is underway.

According to the complaint, Naveen, despite being legally married, informed the woman lawyer — employed as a legal advisor in a private firm — that he had divorced his wife and expressed his intention to marry her.

Having known him for several years, the complainant agreed. On Oct. 2, Naveen's mother allegedly visited her residence and performed traditional engagement rituals, including garlanding and the exchange of betel leaves, signifying acceptance of the relationship.

The wedding was then fixed for Dec. 7 at a resort in Mysuru in the presence of elders and distribution of invitations had already begun. Meanwhile, Naveen allegedly invited her to his house on multiple occasions and engaged in physical relations.

However, on Nov. 21, Naveen reportedly sent her a WhatsApp message admitting that he had not yet obtained a divorce, though claiming the marriage would still take place. He then switched off his phone and became unreachable. When the complainant tried to contact his family, they allegedly abused and threatened her. She has also accused Naveen of producing a fake divorce decree to mislead her.

She alleged that Naveen deliberately created the impression that he was free to marry, involved her in wedding preparations — including distribution of invitations — and continued physical relations under false pretences, with his family actively supporting the deception.

Based on her complaint, Vijayanagar Police have registered an FIR under multiple BNS sections for offences including sexual intercourse by deceitful means, creation of a false document, forgery of public records, forgery with intent to cheat and criminal intimidation. Investigation is in progress.

Fire camp inside BRT: Two from Bengaluru in soup

Chamarajanagar, Dec. 6 (SS& BCT)- An alarming case of unauthorised entry and illegal fire camping inside the Punajanur Wildlife Range of the Boodipadaga section, Ragikallamadu forest area, within the Biligiri Ranganatha Tiger Reserve (BRT), has surfaced, forcing the Forest Department to book two Bengaluru residents.

The accused have been identified as G. Harsharaj of Hanumanthanagar and Satish Kumar of Byatarayanapura in Bengaluru.

According to officials, on Nov. 30, the duo allegedly drove a red Mahindra Thar (KA-03 NW-5577) deep into the BRT Tiger Reserve, entered the Ragikallamadu forest patch and set up a fire camp without any permission.

They reportedly spent the entire night inside the protected area, recording social media reels and camping as if on a private adventure tour.

Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre, after being briefed on the violation, directed officials to register a case under the Wildlife Protection Act and initiate stringent legal action.

Following his instructions, the Forest Department filed a case against the two on Dec. 2 and launched an investigation.

The incident has triggered widespread public outrage. Wildlife enthusiasts and local residents have questioned how outsiders could enter a highly protected Tiger Reserve without the knowledge — or possible cooperation — of Forest Department staff.

Many accuse the Department of serious lapses and are furious that, although a case has been filed, the accused are still at large.

Critics say the Forest Department's failure is clear and demand action not only against the trespassers but also against any personnel who allegedly facilitated their entry. Wildlife activists are urging the immediate arrest of the duo and firm enforcement of laws to protect the sanctity and security of the Tiger Reserve.

Wife's suicide case: Man gets 10-year jail term

Mysuru, Dec. 6 (BCT)- The Fifth Additional District and Sessions Court in Mysuru has sentenced a man to ten years of imprisonment for abetting his wife's suicide by subjecting her to constant physical and mental harassment.

The convict, Shankar of Teranimunti village in Saragur taluk, was found guilty based on evidence that he drove his wife, Pavithra, to end her life.

Pavithra, the third daughter of Mallesha and Manjula from Mulluru village, had been married to Shankar, son of Lingappa of Teranimunti, for about two years.

Initially, the couple lived harmoniously for a year and a half, but later Shankar allegedly began returning home drunk every day and quarrelling with his wife.

He reportedly taunted her for not bearing children even after two years of marriage and subjected her to repeated abuse.

Despite elders advising him to mend his ways, Shankar continued to insult Pavithra, telling her she was worthless, incapable of having children and should end her life.

Deeply distressed, Pavithra hanged herself with a lungi in their house on Feb. 24, 2022. A note recovered at the scene stated that her husband was responsible for her death.

Following a complaint lodged by Pavithra's mother, the then Sub-Inspector Shravan S. Das Reddy of Saragur Police Station registered the case and filed a charge-sheet in the Court.

After the trial and arguments, Judge K.N. Roopa of the Fifth Additional District and Sessions Court found Shankar guilty. She sentenced him to ten years of rigorous imprisonment along with a fine of Rs. 75,000.

Former Public Prosecutor B.E. Yogeshwar argued the case on behalf of the State, as noted in a press release by current Public Prosecutor A.N. Madhu.

VOICE OF THE READER

Barricades on Ring Road make no sense

Sir,

Yesterday, I travelled from Hebbal to Srirampura and found ten barricades placed along just 13 kilometres of the Ring Road. These barricades were causing severe traffic congestion, especially at the points where they were installed.

Vehicles from both the right and left lanes were forced to merge into the centre to snake through the gaps, leaving no room for smooth traffic flow.

What is the purpose of installing so many barricades when they hinder traffic instead of facilitating it?

Will the Traffic Police authorities please address this issue and set it right?

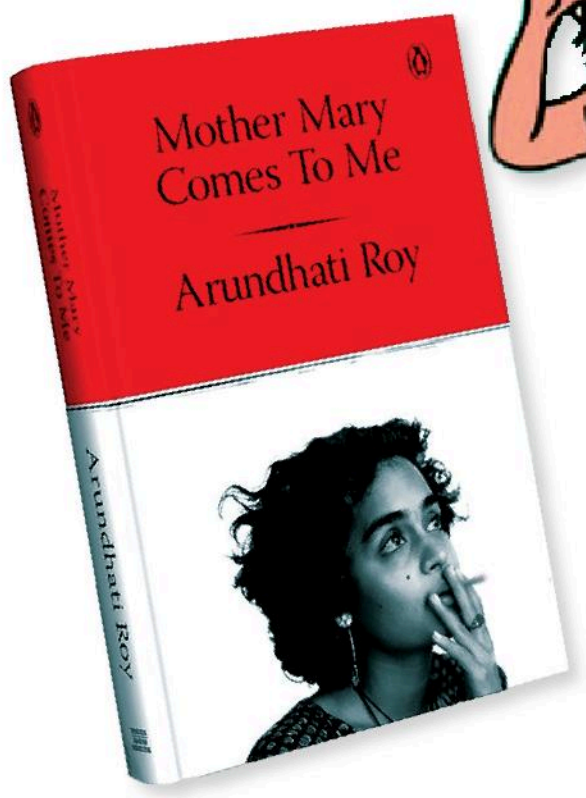
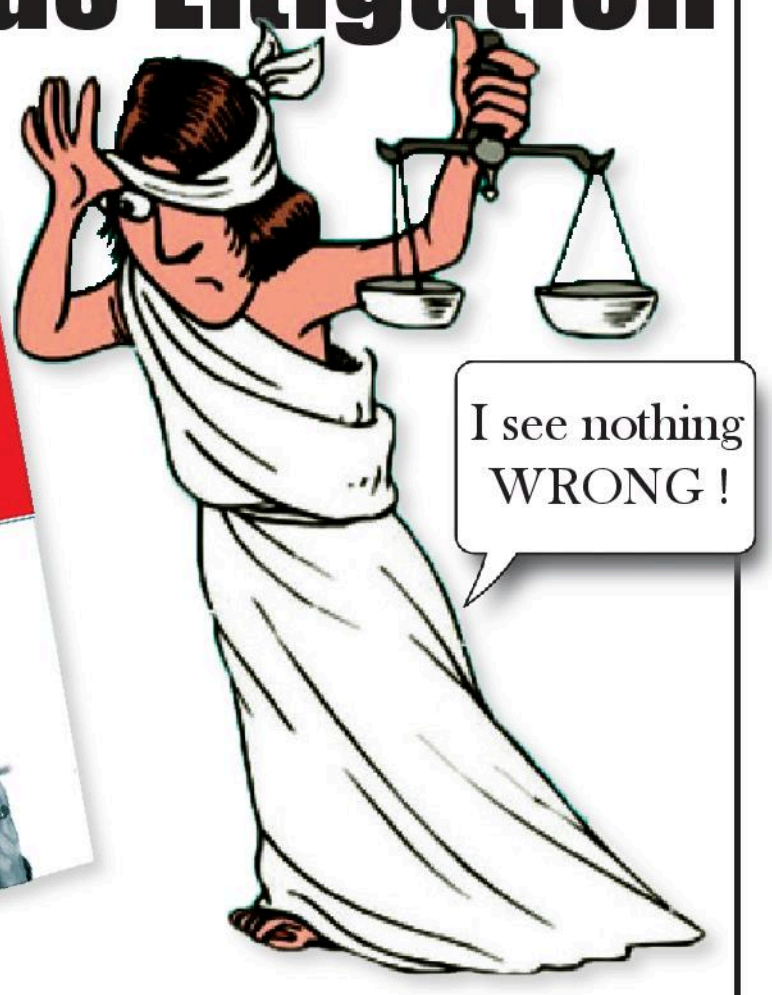
IN BLACK & WHITE

Vikram Muthanna

Vexed by... Vexatious Litigation





Recently, I bought a beautifully produced book titled 'Mother Mary Comes to Me' by Arundhati Roy. The cover is undeniably striking: A lush red fabric with a sleeve featuring a black-and-white photograph of Roy holding a hand-rolled cigarette. It is bold and artistic.

I had barely placed the book on my table when our Advertising Manager walked in. One glance at the cover and she made a prophecy that felt oddly specific: "The publisher is going to face frivolous cases."

Seeing my surprise, she added matter-of-factly, "It's the smoking. Someone will file a case. Either for publicity or to extract money."

I laughed it off. A month later, her words came true.

An advocate named Rajasimhan appeared before a Supreme Court Bench, indignant that Roy's book cover depicted her smoking without the statutory "Smoking Kills" warning.

According to him, this supposedly violated the Cigarettes and Other Tobacco Products Act (COTPA), 2003.

It might have been dramatic, except for one inconvenient fact. The warning was present; it was printed clearly on the very same sleeve.

This was not his first attempt. He had already lost in the Kerala High Court, but he still escalated the matter to the Supreme Court.

The Chief Justice of India, Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi, while dismissing the petition, asked the advocate, "What can be your problem? Is it only to get publicity?"

The uncomfortable answer, milords, is yes. The uncomfortable truth, milords, is that our Courts have allowed this habit to flourish.

For decades, publicity seekers and professional litigants have used the judiciary as a stage and an instrument to delay justice, harass opponents, blackmail adversaries or simply secure their fifteen minutes of fame.

Far too many Public Interest Litigations (PILs) today are less about public interest and more about personal interest.

It is time the judiciary confronted this menace. The solution is simple: Stop admitting frivolous petitions and penalise those who file them.

Consider some of the PILs that have actually entered our Courts: A man claimed Priyanka Gandhi was secretly married to him. A petitioner demanded the prosecution of Shah Rukh Khan for briefly holding the national flag upside down.

Then, the time when 22 criminal cases were filed across India against actor Khushboo merely because she spoke about premarital sex and advised young people to be safe.

Property disputes are no less notorious. Decades after a legitimate sale, long-lost relatives or opportunistic heirs emerge to claim ownership, armed with illegible paperwork and a lawyer. The goal is rarely justice. It is negotiation, settlement or outright blackmail.

Rejecting frivolous petitions is not merely a procedural duty; it is a moral obligation. Every absurd PIL admitted delays a legitimate case. Every hour wasted is justice denied to someone who genuinely needs the Court's attention.

So the real question is: Why are judges admitting such cases at all? And a deeper, more troubling question follows...

If a judge is willing to entertain petitions that are so clearly a waste of judicial time, can such a judge be considered wise, rational or intellectually equipped to deliver justice? If not, should such judges remain on the Bench?

These are uncomfortable questions, but they must be asked.

In 2021, Justice Mohan Shantanagoudar warned that frivolous cases filed with mischievous intent were clogging the judicial system. But warnings alone solve nothing. As long as judges admit bizarre petitions, what hope does the ordinary citizen have?

To understand just how deep the rot can go, consider a disturbing incident from Gujarat in 2004.

A journalist investigating the alleged collusion between businessmen, the Police and the judiciary attempted an extraordinary sting.

He bribed a metropolitan magistrate in Ahmedabad and managed to get a bailable warrant issued... not against a politician or a businessman but against the then President of India, Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam !

To prove his point further, he obtained similar warrants against the Chief Justice of India, Justice V.N. Khare and the then-sitting Supreme Court Judge, Justice B.P. Singh ! The price for these warrants? Just Rs. 40,000 !

A horrified CJI Khare remarked, "If this is the state of affairs, only God knows what will happen to the country."

Well, milord, God knows and so do we. Nothing will happen, because nothing happened to that magistrate. And when wrongdoing goes unpunished, the rot festers.

Today, Courts are increasingly viewed not as temples of justice but as instruments of intimidation. A place to drag opponents, delay outcomes and deny justice. Much of this stagnation stems from frivolous and vexatious litigation.

Perhaps it is time for India to introduce real consequences for those who weaponise the Courts. Make people who file false or malicious cases pay compensation to their victims, be it false, property ownership, dowry or rape case. Make habitual litigants face jail time for wasting judicial resources.

As long as vexatious litigants see our Courts as instruments to use for profiteering and publicity, justice in India will continue to wither away somewhere between harsh "next hearing" and a casual "case adjourned."

If this continues, the crisis of credibility in the Indian judiciary will only continue to deepen.

Special Action Force planned for Mandya: Home Minister

Bengaluru, Dec. 6 (Agencies)- In yet another major decision to curb communal clashes, Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwar has said plans are afoot to constitute a Special Action Force (SAF) Unit in Mandya district.

This was announced by Dr. Parameshwar at an event organised by Karnataka State Police in association with Renault Nissan Technology and Business Centre India Pvt. Ltd., at the Chief Office of the Police here yesterday.

The 'Hygiene On GO' vehicles were handed over to Bengaluru City Police Unit. 'Pragatiya Sthambagalu,' a book tracing the path of progress of State Police, was released on the occasion.

Dr. Parameshwar said, the decision to depute SAF in Mandya, comes close on the heels of the SAF constituted in coastal districts — Dakshina Kannada and Udupi and in Shivamogga. In these districts, communal clashes and murders were frequently reported, fomenting hatred in the society. Following the action, the number of incidents gradually came down and the situation is under total control, with over 300 personnel, specially trained to handle the tense situations.

"During my recent visit to Mangaluru, appreciations came in from the general public about SAF," recalled Dr. Parameshwar.

Saying that State Police have incorporated many innovative plans to streamline Policing, he said, the Police should be courteous in attending to the people towards addressing their woes. Technological reforms have come in handy in cracking crime cases, he added.

Reiterating his resolve to add more teeth to control cyber crime rate, he said, in a first-of-its-kind in the country, a DGP cadre officer has been deputed to handle cyber crimes. There has been a surge in number of cyber crimes, especially after CEN Police Stations were opened in every districts of the State. A total of 1,300 cases have been registered in this year so far, while 21,995 cases were reported in the year 2024 and 21,903 in 2023. Prior to the opening of CEN Stations in the year 2022, a total of 12,550 cyber crimes were reported across the State, he added. With regard to Police recruitments, he said, the recruitment process of 402 Police Sub-Inspectors (PSIs) has been completed and they are being sent for training. That apart, 600 more PSI posts are vacant and a notification will be announced soon.

Tomorrow's inauguration ceremony will see the participation of Sri Vishwaprasanna Theertha Swamiji of Udupi Pejawar Adhokshaja Mutt, Sri Abhinava Shankarabharati Mahaswamiji of Kudli Sringeri Mutt and Sri Prakashanandendra Saraswati Swamiji of Adhyatma Prakasha Karyalaya, Holenarasipur.

The event will be presided over by senior scholar and founder of Bhartiyogadhama, Dr. K.L. Shankaranarayana Jois.

Reviving heritage

Ganapathy Bhat, subject expert at Bhartiyogadhama, highlighted the significance of the initiative, noting that the observatory aims to revive and promote ancient Indian astronomical knowledge.

"It will house instruments to study planetary movements, eclipses, solstices, equinoxes and other celestial phenomena and provide hands-on learning opportunities for school and college students," he revealed.

In addition, the observatory will function as a research resource for scholars and astronomy enthusiasts and facilitate accurate Panchanga calculations and scientific exploration in the fields of astrology and astronomy.

Three-phase project

The observatory is being developed under the banner Jyotirdhama, in three phases — Purva Pada, Madhya Pada and Pashchima Pada.

Tomorrow's event marks the completion and inauguration of the Madhya Pada, the first operational stage. Once the remaining phases are completed, the entire observatory will be opened to the public.

Bhartiyogadhama emphasises that the Vedhashale is not merely a cultural symbol but a significant scientific initiative that will open new avenues in research, traditional mathematics, celestial studies and education.

The institution envisions it as a hub that will inspire students, scholars and the public to engage with astronomy through a distinctly Indian lens. For details, contact Mob: +91-80509-88327.

Nypunya Gaurava presented to Padma Shri Dr. Hassan Raghu during Nypunyothsava

Mysuru, Dec. 6 (VVH&DM)- University of Mysore (UoM) Registrar M.K. Savitha said that parents, teachers and the Government have an equal role in shaping a bright future for children in the current education system.

She was speaking at the valedictory of the 2-day 'Nypunyothsava - Janapada Theru' annual day celebration of the city's Nypunya School of Excellence at Kalamandira on Hunsur Road here on Thursday.

"Children will emulate their parents in daily life and in most of the times they accept their parents as role-models. As parents, we will be everything for children. Our behaviour, attitude and principles will have a bearing on children. As such, parents should learn to mingle with their children by keeping aside their stress and strains of daily life. The parents, apart from educating their wards, should also teach them qualitative behaviour," Savitha said.

Regretting that parents are exerting mental pressure on their children to score high marks and grades in academics at school level itself, she said that this will have an adverse impact on the growth of children. Instead of exerting pressure, parents should allow their wards to enjoy the life of childhood, she maintained, adding that parents should also ensure that children do not get addicted to cell phones and are not influenced by social media.

Academic Consultant and Educationist Dr. L. Savitha, in her address, opined that children will follow what they observe in the society. As such, it is the responsibility of every one of us to build a better society and to concentrate on the all-round growth of our children, she noted.

Padma Shri Dr. Hassan Raghu, Martial Arts and Film Art Director, was honoured with 'Nypunya Gaurava' on the occasion.

CBSE students of Grades 1 to 8, Dattagalli campus, presented 'Janapada Sangama', which enthralled the gathering. The presentation was directed by Raghuleela School of Music.

Nypunya Group of Institutions Chairman R. Raghu, Secretary R. Kautilya, Principal M.N. Mahendra, Vice-Principal Shalini and others were present.

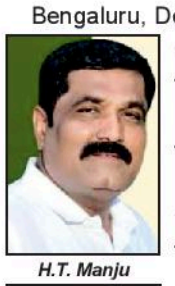
MLA alleges mega scam in KSDL



H.T. Manju

Bengaluru, Dec.6 (DM)- Even as the Opposition BJP and the JD(S) continue to target the ruling Congress Government in the State over rampant corruption, K.R. Pet JD(S) MLA H.T. Manju has dropped a bombshell alleging a Rs.1,000 crore mega scam in Bengaluru-based KSDL (Karnataka Soaps and Detergents Limited).

Addressing a press meet at Vidhana Soudha here yesterday, Manju alleged that a Rs.1,000 scam involving purchase of Sandalwood Oil had taken place at KSDL. Maintaining that he accessed to a 800-page report, he said that the report has recorded only 9 of the many tenders. Though he had written to the Chief Minister, the concerned Minister and the State Chief Secretary drawing their attention to the scam, he has not received any reply so far, he contended.

"The tender for supplying Sandalwood Oil has been awarded to Karnataka Aromas, which is a blacklisted company. This company has not followed any norms laid out in the tender. Though the company claims that it is importing Sandalwood Oil, the fact is that it is buying the oil locally without paying any GST. The KSDL had purchased the oil at a whopping Rs. 2.24 lakh a kg, which he had informed to the authorities through a letter in May 2025. After his letter, the authorities are buying oil at Rs. 93,000 a kg," he said while questioning why was the oil purchased earlier at a whopping rate, which smells a mega scam.

'Viveka Kutumbakam-5' held

Mysuru, Dec. 6- Sri Viveka Balodyana Public School's 46th Annual Day titled "Viveka Kutumbakam-5" was celebrated at Kalamandira in city recently in the presence of Swami Ishtanathanandaji of Ramakrishna Institute of Moral and Spiritual Education (RIMSE), Mysuru.

Senior scientist Dr. S.M. Shivaprasad, Dean and Professor at the Indian Institute of Technology, Dharwad and former Director of Karnataka Government Academy of Higher Education, was the chief guest.

The stage programme began with floral tributes to the statue of Swami Vivekananda.

Addressing the gathering, Dr. Shivaprasad said, "In the next 15 to 20 years, the world will undergo astonishing changes. Behind technology lies science and by using science, technology is being developed in extraordinary ways. In future, nanotechnology, biotechnology, AI technology and similar fields will bring remarkable changes to the world."

"Already we have technologies such as driverless cars, buildings constructed without the help of civil engineers and machines repaired without the need for mechanical engineers. Therefore, at a time when technology is expanding into every field, it is essential for humans to receive value-based education to use it safely," he noted.

Swamiji, in his benedictory address said, "Be it parents or schools, they must create healthy competition among children. If children are encouraged for every small achievement, they will be able to accomplish greater things in future. Under no circumstances should their abilities be measured by comparing them with others. Every individual has their own unique talent."
